IX. Open Business
A. Review of AMC Evalworks Review Forms – Based on a review of the proposed EvalWorks forms, the West Virginia Real Estate Appraiser Licensing and Certification Board is not in a position to either accept or reject the same for use in West Virginia. On page 4 of both forms submitted to the Board for review, there is a “Disclaimer” with the following language: “This report has not been approved by a licensed appraiser nor does it constitute an appraisal of the subject property and should not be relied upon as such.” Furthermore, on the final page of both reports submitted to the Board for review, the following language appears: “This report is not an appraisal, opinion of value, broker price opinion, or comparative market analysis.” Given the clear disclaimer that the proposed forms are not to be deemed as an appraisal and will not be approved by a licensed appraiser, it is the position of the West Virginia Real Estate Appraiser Licensing and Certification Board that the same lacks the authority to approve or reject the forms for use in West Virginia.
